 - How did this film make you feel?
 - Did anything surprise you? Did anything resonate for you?
 - How knowledgeable were you about trans issues before this film? What did you learn?
 - Can you think of any films or TV shows that you like that have trans representation in them? Has the way you feel about them changed since watching this documentary? Is this representation good? Bad? Complicated? Did you even see the representation as trans before this film? Discuss.
 - After viewing the film, have your feelings about cisgender actors playing transgender characters changed? How might trans actors playing trans characters improve visibility for trans people? Do cis actors have a responsibility to turn down trans roles?
 - The film poses some thoughts as to why trans women may be disproportionately represented on TV in comparison to non-binary people and trans men - do you agree? What else might contribute to this disparity? Is this disparity something you noticed before watching DISCLOSURE?
 - Do you feel more empowered or better equipped to advocate for trans people in social/political discourse because of this film? How so or how not?
